29 Issues. That's a LOT. It seems like it anyway, to me. This one's a banner issue for me, too, because it's the first one designed in full color. Sadly, we don't have color images of all 1,200 figures shown. But we do still manage to show 1,200 models...

For me, this is a big deal. The first issue we did that even had any color pages was the first one we got when I started working here back in 2002. That issue, Number 11, I think, had 8 color pages, and promoted our new Boxed set - Marthrangul. I remember working in our casting department when Marthrangul came out - I broke the molds and we had to make all new ones! Back then, Dark Heaven topped out at #2679. Then in 2004 I started making the catalogs myself with Issue #15. That, of course makes this my fifteenth Casketworks to produce, and, in my opinion, one of my best. We've come so far now that Dark Heaven now goes up past #3610, adding almost a thousand models since I started working here. Warlord has added over 500 models, and Chronoscope, LE, Bones, and our licensed lines didn't even exist!

Enough nostalgia - what's exciting isn't me reminiscing about how much has changed in 15 issues, but what's coming next! We've got a massively awesome Summer Convention schedule, kicking off with PAX East in April and going through PAX Prime in September, and not slowing down in between! While we're resting up from those, we've got our very own ReaperCon, Origins Game Fair, and PaizoCon in between!

And then there's Bones! We'll be using Bones at the Paint and Takes at both PAX shows, PaizoCon, and Origins this year, so if you're really curious to see what you can get for $1.99, come by and try one out for free!

And of course, I'm still trying to get you to come to ReaperCon. We gather up the best painters in the world and strap them down so they can't run, and don't let them up until they teach you how to paint like they do. And nothing beats the thrill for a true lead-head out of having the mini you want cast on demand! Standing there, watching us make it for you... You know you want it! Then we have a Zillion Pathfinder Society games - and the Paizo crew comes in to help us run them! Not to mention the custom games, running with Razig's pirates or fighting zombies in the Reaper Factory (in miniature!)

Well, this issue's done now, so I'm going to go home, throw back a cold one, and play some Star Wars: The Old Republic. I'm Rhienheit on The Corsair (Jedi Knight) or Maliss on Gauntlet of Kressh (Sith Inquisitor) if you want to give me a shout! May the (Mass times Acceleration) Be With You!

NEWS & UPDATES!

ANNOUNCING BONES!

Sometimes an idea comes along that is so revolutionary, so visionary, and so simple, you wonder why nobody did it before! Check out Dark Heaven Bones! You've had plastic models for years, but you've never had the seamless fusion of Reaper's world-famous quality with the simplicity of plastic and the prices of 20 years ago!

Quality Material

They're made from flexible but strong engineered polymers, so they'll stand up to whatever damage your fellow gamers can dish out! And best of all - ANYONE can afford them!

Made for Painting!

There's no need to prime them, because Master Series Paints go on straight out of the bottle! You can dust them with a spray of dullcote or primer if you want, or just start painting right away! Whether you're picking up a brush for the first time, or you're a seasoned pro, these paint like a dream, with a smooth surface that grips the paint and resists rubbing and peeling. And when you're done, you can hit them with another dusting of dullcote, but you don't have to!

Easy to use!

And what's more, Bones can be converted and modified easier and faster than metal figures - and with the same tools you already have! You can use greenstuff or superglue to resculpt and swap out heads, weapons, shields, and wings (or whatever!) to customize the model until it's perfect for you!

Ready to use!

Don't want to modify them? That's ok! These figures were made by the same talented sculptors that made all of our figures. They're going to look great on your tabletop as-is! Right out of the package they're ready to paint or play!

For more details - Check out Page 74!

Reaper Figure Finder

Looking for just the right miniature for your hero or leader? Our Figure Finder is just what you're looking for! Simply select the options you're looking for and our website will do the hard work for you!

And now you can take your shopping list with you! Simply add any item to your list and print it out or save as a spreadsheet. Take your list to your favorite local gaming store and shop away!

Product Spotlight!

We introduced our New Boxed Set Cases last year - a hard shell plastic case that's kind of like a lunchbox, kind of like a pistol case, kind of like AWESOME. Well, this year, we're making them available empty! That's right - we're excited to bring you NOTHING!

Wait. No, not nothing. FOAM! These paint cases are now available to you with just the foam inserts pictured at left, either egg-crate style for transporting miniatures, or cut-style for transporting your paint, brushes, and tools!

You can get these fine cases with Mouslings, Dragons, or Heroes in them, or even lots of paints, but why on earth would you want that, when you can have them with just FOAM and AIR?

For more information on these products, they're listed as 08706 and 08705 on page 77!

The foam inserts were designed by Outrider Hobbies.

Teaming up with Dream Pod 9!

Reaper Miniatures' Master Series Paint has a new paint line! We've teamed up with Dream Pod 9 to produce Heavy Gear Blitz! Colors.

The basic set contains 32 custom colors and 4 standard MSP colors in a mixture of Core and HD formulations. These colors are perfect for painting your Heavy Gear faction models, and they're also a great range of colors for everyone to play with! For more information, stay tuned to reapermini.com!

2012 Convention Schedule!

April 6-8, PAX East, Boston, Mass. We'll be hosting a Paint and Take and game demos, and have a massive shopping booth with over 1,000 figures to choose from! Come by and say "Hello"!

May 17-20, ReaperCon, Denton, Texas.

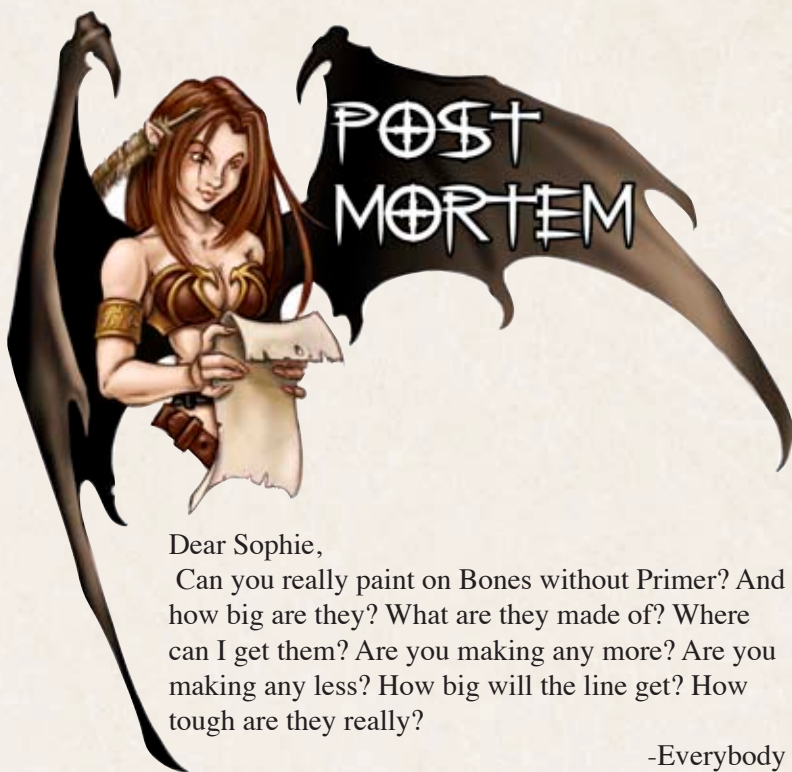

At the Reaper factory, we'll have painting and sculpting classes, Pathfinder Society games, tabletop wargames, Warlord, and shopping directly from the casting line!

May 30-June 3, Origins Game Fair, Columbus, Ohio.

We'll be there with a booth, game demos, and sponsoring the official Paint and Take!

Dear Sophie,

Can you really paint on Bones without Primer? And how big are they? What are they made of? Where can I get them? Are you making any more? Are you making any less? How big will the line get? How tough are they really?

-Everybody

Everybody's asking a lot of questions about Bones. We're really excited here (either that or it's just very cold!) and we want to help you out, so let's give it a shot!

First - yes, you really can paint on them without primer. We painted over a dozen models using our Master Series Paints and MSP HD colors for various photographs and videos and didn't have any of them primed. We also used Dullcote and regular spray primers on a few and that worked too, but hey, we figure we can save you a step. If you really like gray, black, or colored primer, though, knock yourself out.

Second - They're made of actual human bones. No, not really! :) They're made of a specially engineered vinyl-based polymer, that bonds really well with acrylic paint and

Dear Sophie,
Sometimes on your site and in your catalog, I see these little triangular things on the side of the image. What are they?

Triangularly Yours,
Stan

Dear Sophie,
How the heck am I supposed to tell how big a figure is? I just want to see if it's the right size for my Diorama.

Sincerely,
Scaled-to-Death

Well, Stan, Scaled,

The answer to both of your questions is the same. Those little triangles you see on most of our images are Scale Markers we call Bryangles™. The lower Tria--Bryangle marks 1/2 inch from the table surface, and the higher Bryangle marks One Inch from the table surface. From there, you can extrapolate the approximate size.

Most of our figures are scaled for use in Wargames or tabletop RPGs where a figure is on a 1, 1.5, or 2" base, or takes up a 1" square, and many include square bases!

Superglue (which is Cyanoacrylate - another acrylic medium).

You can find them at fine Hobby Shops where you got this catalog, or at reapermini.com.

We are planning on releasing more, yes. As of the time this went to press, only 12 have been delivered to Texas, but over 30 have been produced. No, I don't have any pictures you won't find on pages 4 or 78.

We don't have a maximum size for the line in mind today. This is a revolutionary concept, and we'll have to see what the market wants before we decide when or if to stop making new ones. But rest assured, new ones are coming!

As for durability, Jarrad ran one over in his car and then painted it. He said it was fine afterwards! :)

July 6-8, PaizoCon, Bellevue, Washington.

We'll be hosting a Paint and Take and some seminars, and generally being fun and cool (like we do).

August 31-September 2, PAX Prime, Seattle, Washington.

We'll be hosting a Paint and Take and game demos, and have a massive shopping booth with over 1,000 figures to choose from!

Keep an eye on www.reapermini.com for any changes or updates!

P-65 HEAVY METAL

P-65: the metal formula that made Reaper famous!! It's a blend of white metals designed to capture every subtle detail as well as allow for maximum metal flexibility for straightening and posing. Bringing this metal formula back into production is a big step for us so we felt it only appropriate to name the new line P-65 in honor of its heritage.

P-65 is a lead based alloy similar to 60% lead - 40% tin solder and is the perfect mix to cast miniatures in. The P-65 miniature line is designed specifically for the adult modeler and is being released to give them a choice in how they spend their hobby dollars.

BONES

Amazing Detail, Amazing Price

Twenty years ago, you could go into a gaming store with a couple of bills and come out with a handful of minis. Not so much today. But today's quality is far superior to those figures of the past. Reaper's Bones meet that sweet spot where low price intersects with incredible detail. All the fiddly bits you love to paint are there at prices that will astound you.

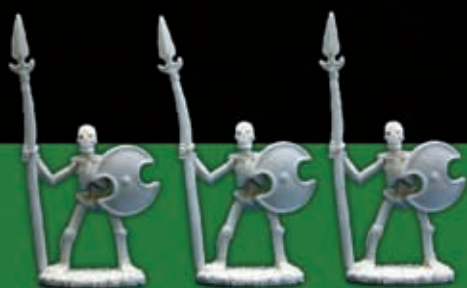

Ready to Paint

Out of the box, these incredible figures take paint without priming. Our Master Series Paints cover these models perfectly right out of the bottle, and the paint sticks -- standing up to most sorts of tabletop abuse your Friday night group would be able to dish out.

Perfect for Hobbyists and Gamers

Need to reposition an arm? You have your eye on one of the shields in our conversion packs? Grab some snips and modeling glue and go nuts. Bones' polymer material reacts beautifully with cyanoacrylate (super glue) adhesives. Conversions and weapon swaps take about as long as your glue takes to dry.
